I have always been interested in Art even during my school days. I took Art as a subject and was quite good at sketches. I would say I attribute my 'talent' to my late father, who was also good at drawings because I remembered his sketch of a locomotive engine done with very fine details. Away from my work schedule, as a form of relaxation, I used to dabble in art and have nurtured a fondness for airbrush, though very tedious and painstaking. I also paint with acrylic.

There certainly was no lack of local talents that influenced Malaysian contemporary art. In 1957, Frank Sullivan was appointed the Press Secretary to Tunku Abdul Rahman Putra Al-Haj (the first Malaysian Prime Minister after Independence) and he brought a positive impact onto the Malaysian art scene. His efforts to introduce local artists and their works led to the formation of the National Art Gallery at 109 Jalan Ampang, which was officially launched by Tunku Abdul Rahman Putra Al-Haj in August 1958. Over three decades, I have acquired a sizeable number of about 300 paintings, mostly from local artists for the AmBank Group and my own collection. I have pleasure in presenting and sharing the Collection with you.

Prologue

Like music, art is universal and is appreciated by all talented and the untalented, regardless of who the artists are and where they come from. Art is a display of talent and creativity, which expresses and represent views, visions and hopes that can only bring about healthy and positive relationships between people of diverse cultural and economic backgrounds.

Art is inherent to our identity. It is instantly recognized in any culture, no matter how strange it may seem in one's experience. Like culture itself, the essence of art is life-supporting. No matter how one looks at art and culture, it can be safely said we cannot imagine a culture without the enhancement and refinement of art.

Malaysia is a multi-ethnic, multi-cultural, multi-lingual and a multi-racial society comprising mainly Malays and the indigenous tribes, Chinese and Indians, cohesively forming a rich cultural heritage. The art and culture of Malaysia have been meeting and mixing since the very beginning of the country's history fifteen hundred years ago.

While an artist's works are somewhat shaped and influenced by the environment, history, values, attitudes and outlook of his/her culture, the pursuit of art is borderless. A place may give an artist a different kind of landscape or scene to paint, but it is the choice of the artist's use of imagination, medium and passion with which to paint it that is unique to each individual.

The diversity of art in Malaysia is a reflection of our cultural traditions, pluralistic society and exposure to external influences over the years. Some of these art pieces are in tandem with national development and the search for identity. Modern art has evolved to become a medium of expression for uniquely Malaysian subjects and discourse. Artworks by Malaysian artists are treasured by collectors and are appreciated not only for their artistic merit but also for their commercial value.

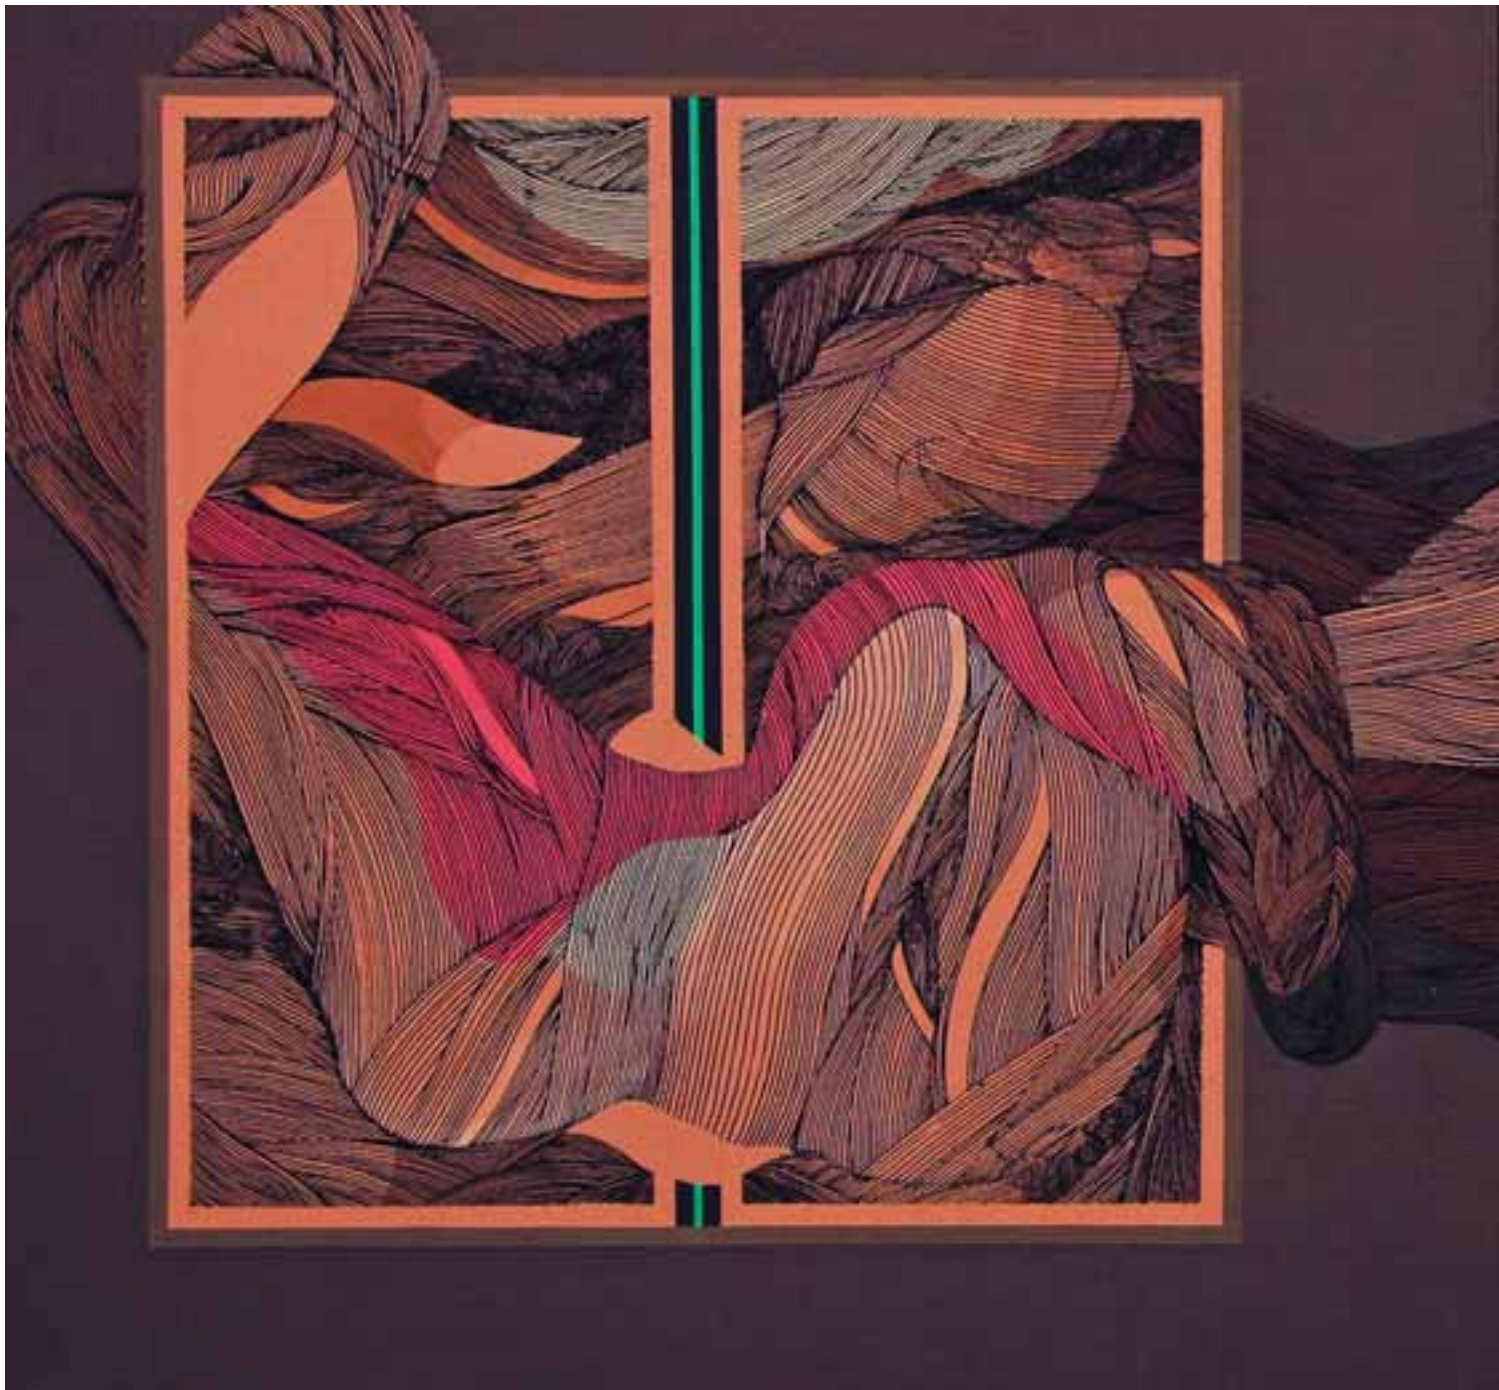

The works by these Malaysian artists - a pool of relatively unknowns when they first started to paint - is truly an eclectic collection of vastly diverse styles by artists from a wide ranging background, traditions and culture. Classically schooled or self taught, they are bonded by the depth and passion for their work.

It is this spirit of muhibah or 'harmony', unity beyond borders that is the essence we wish to present the AmBank Group's Collection of Paintings. Collected by Tan Sri Azman Hashim through a period of over 30 years, they are displayed in the Group's offices, banking halls and branches throughout Malaysia for all to appreciate and enjoy.

Over 280 artworks of AmBank Group's Collection are compiled and presented in this book.

We hope the diversity of this Collection is stimulating to your appreciation of art and your imagination and that you enjoy this compilation as much as we do publishing it in which is relevant to any observer of life, whoever you may be. And, it is with hope that the true beauty of an artwork is in the beauty of the emotion it evokes.

PAINTINGS

Collection from the AmBank Group and Tan Sri Azman Hashim, 1982-2012

---

The arrival of European travellers, colonialists and Chinese traders to this region during the 18th century brought about the birth and interest of art. The European and British travellers were believed to have asked local artists to paint the life scenes, flora and fauna for historical record as well as for private collections.

Officers of the East India Company who were based in Malaya commissioned many of these artworks. The British introduced the genre and landscape art in the tradition of Turner and Constable as well as Realism of the Pre-Raphaelites era. This continued until the 19th century when European Art, particularly French art, started to create effects on the movements of Impressionism, Cubism, Surrealism and Futurism.

In 1957, Frank Sullivan was appointed the Press Secretary to Tunku Abdul Rahman Putra Al-Haj, the first Malaysian Prime Minister after Independence. This brought a positive impact onto the Malaysian art scene. His efforts to introduce local artists and their works led to the formation of the National Art Gallery at 109, Jalan Ampang which was officially launched by the first Prime Minister on 27 August, 1958. Among those who helped to develop the National Art Gallery was Tan Sri Azman Hashim who was Chairman of the Board of Trustees from 1984 to 1991.

The AmBank Group Paintings Collection began taking shape in 1982. Over the next three decades, the Group amassed over 280 paintings from a slew of mainly local artists. This extensive Collection has made AmBank Group one of the biggest corporate art collectors in Malaysia which also enabled the Group to play its role in encouraging the growth and development of the local art scene.
